Subject: Hunterdon County Historical Society Announces Fall Lecture:

Fulper and Stangl Pottery-A Colorful Glazing History

Two noted pottery experts are teaming together to present the afternoon lecture on Sunday, November 13, @ 2:00 p.m. at the Hunterdon County Historical Society's annual fall meeting.

Mr. Jon Kornacki and Mr. Peter Meissner will detail the rise and decline of the Fulper and Stangl potteries in Flemington and the world renowned utilitarian and art pottery created in Hunterdon County from 1857 until the 20th century. The lecture will be held at Presbyterian Church, 10 East Main Street in Flemington. The event is free and open to the public!

Messrs. Kornacki and Meissner are both long-time collectors and researchers of the Fulper and Stangl Company. Mr. Kornacki has been published in the Journal of American Art Pottery Association and focuses his research on Fulper art pottery, most especially Fulper's lamps, the subject of his latest comprehensive book.

Mr. Meissner is the country's leading authority on early Stangl artware. He has written dozens of articles for the Stangl/Fulper Collector's Club for which he has served both as president and vice-president.

The talk will last about 50 minutes, followed by questions and refreshments will be served. For more information about the Hunterdon County Historical Society visit the web site @ www.hunterdonhistory.org
